

CSUMB Movie

For this team project we have decided to build a shopping movie website where you are able to purchase movies/DVDs online.

The customer would be able to select and browse movies among a big selection, along with seeing the description and trailer of each movie. Each movie would also include the rating score from the public audience before purchase to help with making a decision for selection.

The customer would be able to add as many movies to their cart as well as manage his cart (delete, change, add). When the customer is finished with his final selection, they would then be able to see summary and in conclusion, make the final order and pay for the movie(s) of their choice.
